

Manuscript Research Institute

MRI Terms of Use

Version 0.1

Effective Date: 7/28/2026

1. Introduction

Welcome to the Manuscript Research Institute (MRI) Platform ("MRI," "we," "our," or "us"). The MRI Platform exists to preserve, study, transcribe, analyze, and publish historical manuscripts for educational, research, and non-profit purposes. By accessing or using the Services, you agree to these Terms of Use. If you do not agree, do not use the Services.

2. Eligibility

Public browsing is permitted where available. Collaborative features require registration and approval. Users are responsible for maintaining accurate account information and protecting account credentials.

3. Acceptable Use and Account Security

Use the platform lawfully, follow MRI standards, respect repository agreements, protect your account, report unauthorized access, cooperate with project managers, preserve manuscript integrity, and provide proper attribution where required.

4. Prohibited Conduct

Users may not upload malicious code, gain unauthorized access, interfere with the platform, bypass permissions, remove copyright notices, misrepresent contributions, submit intentionally false data, infringe intellectual property, harvest user data, overload the system, or commercially exploit MRI materials without permission.

5. Copyright, Repository Rights, and Restrictions

Repository ownership of manuscript images remains with the originating institution unless stated otherwise. Users must comply with repository licenses and may not redistribute, sell, remove watermarks, or claim ownership of repository materials.

6. Public and Restricted Materials

Some resources are public while others require approval because of repository agreements, copyright, editorial review, or project status. Access levels may change.

7. User-Submitted Content

Contributors retain ownership of original submissions while granting MRI a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, royalty-free license to store, edit, publish, distribute, archive, display, use for HTR/machine-learning training, and include in future MRI projects. MRI may edit submissions for consistency and quality.

8. Platform Availability

Services are provided as available and may be interrupted for maintenance, upgrades, outages, or other circumstances.

9. Suspension or Termination

MRI may suspend or terminate accounts or remove content for violations of these Terms, project standards, security, or repository agreements.

10. Disclaimers

Services are provided 'AS IS' without warranties. Historical data, transcriptions, translations, and machine-generated suggestions may contain errors and should be independently verified.

11. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted by law, MRI is not liable for indirect, incidental, consequential, or similar damages arising from use of the Services.

12. Governing Law

These Terms are governed by the laws of the State of Nevada, United States.

13. Changes to These Terms

MRI may revise these Terms. Continued use after publication of revisions constitutes acceptance.

14. Contact Information

Manuscript Research Institute (MRI)

Website: <https://manuscriptresearch.org>

Email: admin@manuscriptresearch.com

15. Electronic Agreement

By checking the required boxes and submitting this application, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agree to the MRI Terms of Use. You agree that your electronic acceptance has the same legal effect as your handwritten signature.